Approved For Release 2003/10/21 CIA-REP73B00296R000200120023-2

JOURNAL

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL

Wednesday - 22 September 1971

5X1	1 GLC) Accompanied Messrs. Duckett and Bruce Clarke to a briefing of Jim Woolsey, General Counsel, Senate Armed Services
* '	to a briefing of Jim Woolsey, General Counsel, Benede Subcome Togdick and Richard Perie, of the Jonato Just
• 1	mittee on National Security and International Operations staff. It covered
i	mittee on National Security and International Openion APM programs
•	G ist strategic weapons systems including: ICDW and ADM Programmy strategic aircraft, and submarine production. Similar programs for strategic aircraft, and submarine products are assessed to express the Communist China were also discussed. Woolsey seemed to express the Community of manufactures when he said that the briefing presented a feeling of the staff members when he said that the briefing presented a 0	rather distressing picture, but he was grateful to us for bringing him
4	Tathor dropped and the

I asked Jim Woolsey what he thought the schedule would be for Senate consideration of the military procurement bill, especially provisions (like the Symington amendment) pertaining to programs in Laos and Southeast Asia generally. Woolsey said Chairman Stennis had sent a letter to Majority Leader Mansfield suggesting that the Senate consider the bill in three sections:

- (1) Provisions and amendments pertaining to U.S. military weapons programs.
 - (2) Provisions and amendments on Southeast Asia.
 - (3) End the war amendments.

Woolsey thinks the debate on weapons systems will take at least two weeks; therefore, he does not expect discussion on Southeast Asia until after the 1st of October at the earliest.

2. JGO) Met with Mr. Richard Barton, Employee who told me that he has forwarded a revised military and small contain for the first time complete the fourth a considerations of conglessional moderations of mains of mains of Hederal employees.
Committee print will continue in open session on Wednesday, 29 September.
Committee print will continue in open session on

25X1